

JOHN DE KOK
CEO

“Improve and accelerate your crystallization process from start to the end”

Technobis Crystallization Systems is a leading technology company specialized in the area of solid-state research, process development and formulation. Our mission is to make customers successful by providing smart and fast solutions, based on our unique technology, knowledge and expertise.

Since 2005, platforms for accelerating crystallization research have successfully been developed and installed in nearly every pharmaceutical research lab in the world. With more than 500 units in the field, a large community of scientists have been enabled to make a significant contribution to the accelerated development of new pharmaceuticals.